

September 6, 2006

Letter in Support of the United Nations Association of Serbia

The United Nations Country Team in Serbia appreciates the work undertaken in support of the objectives of the United Nations by the United Nations Association of Serbia (UNA), including the Belgrade International Model United Nations (BIMUN) project, organized by the UNA for the past three years.

The BIMUN conference is an excellent way of bringing young people from all over the world together and teaching them about tolerance and compromise on one side and on the other, about current international developments, human rights, the United Nations system, diplomacy and many other issues that are of vital importance today in bringing up the youth in a democratic spirit. I believe it is a good way of opening doors of the world to young people from Serbia, helping combat the isolation they frequently express.

The UNCT welcomes UNA's initiative for the forthcoming BIMUN 2007 which will bring a larger number of young people together from across the world, allowing for a rich debate and forming global citizens.

Lance Clark
Resident Coordinator